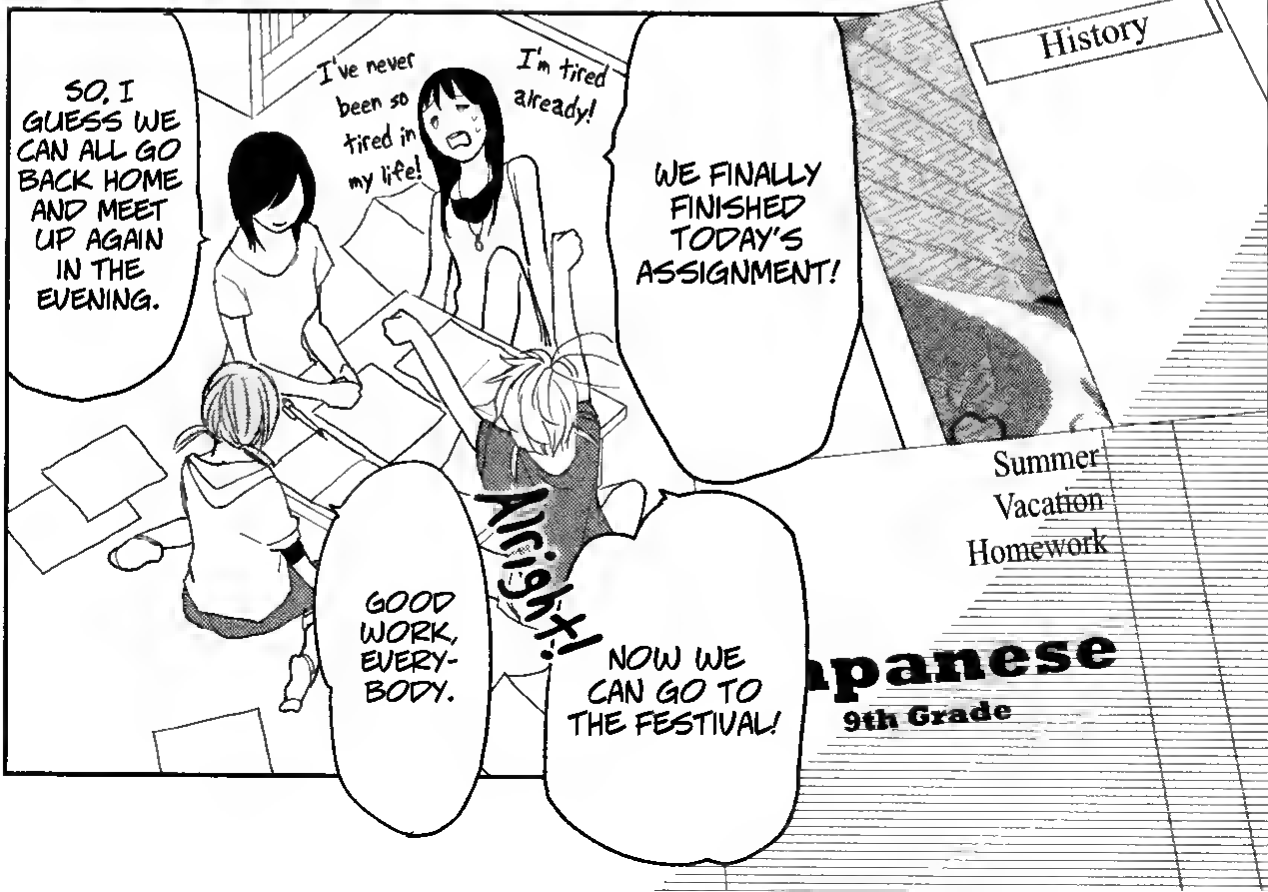
It's still too early for me to experience the power of electricity...



SO, I GUESS WE CAN ALL GO BACK HOME AND MEET UP AGAIN IN THE EVENING.
I've never been so tired in my life!
I'm tired already!
WE FINALLY FINISHED TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT!
History
Summer Vacation Homework
GOOD WORK, EVERY-BODY.
Alright!
NOW WE CAN GO TO THE FESTIVAL!
9th Grade

APPARENTLY, TONIGHT AT THE SHRINE THEY'RE GOING TO UNVEIL THE OBJECT THAT CONTAINS THE DEITY FOR THE FIRST TIME IN FOURTEEN YEARS.
HUH? YOU LOST ME. WHAT ARE YOU TALKING ABOUT?
SPEAKING OF WHICH, I HEARD THAT THE FESTIVAL TODAY IS A SPECIAL ONE.
What? Really?
WHY?
click click
WELL, I DON'T KNOW MUCH ABOUT IT EITHER.
I JUST OVERHEAD A LITTLE OF WHAT SOME OF OUR CUSTOMERS AT THE STORE WERE TALKING ABOUT.
IT SEEMS LIKE IT'S SOMETHING ONLY ADULTS CAN SEE.
FOR REAL?
That makes me so interested! How sly of them!
No way! That's exciting!
THAT'S REALLY SUSPICIOUS!
I REALLY WANT TO SEE IT!
I KNOW WHAT WE'RE GOING TO WRITE ABOUT FOR OUR FREE RESEARCH PROJECT!
WE'RE GOING TO SEE A RELIC!
Yeah!
SEE YOU LATER THIS EVENING, THEN.

SHRINE PART OVER HERE!
WOOOW!

HM?
I SHOULD HAVE GONE FOR A YUKATA MYSELF. squee♡
squee-♡
YOU TOO, SANGO! YOU LOOK LIKE AN ADULT!
THAT REALLY SUITS YOU, AYAME!
BAKED POTATOES
Fried Chicken
WHAT SHOULD WE GET? I CAN'T MAKE UP MY MIND!
WOW!
THERE ARE SO MANY STANDS HERE!
BLUMP WHOOSH
Ow!
What's up with that? Geez...
CHOCOLATE BANANA BLUSH
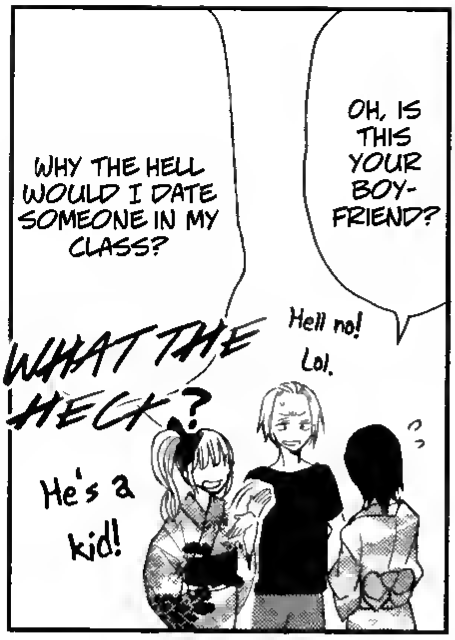
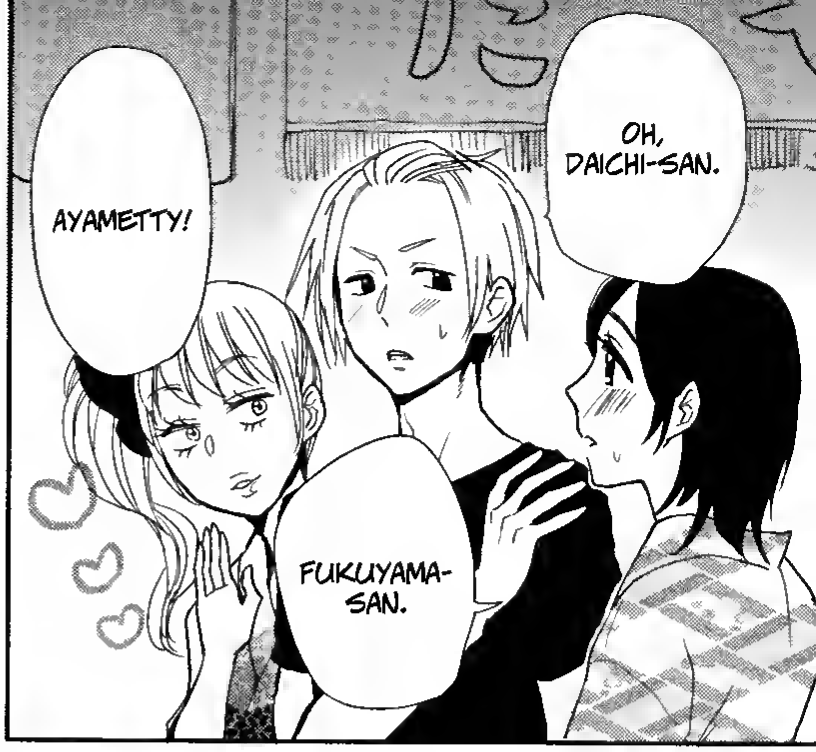
Why did you have to write it like that?
?!
OH... I'M SO SORRY...

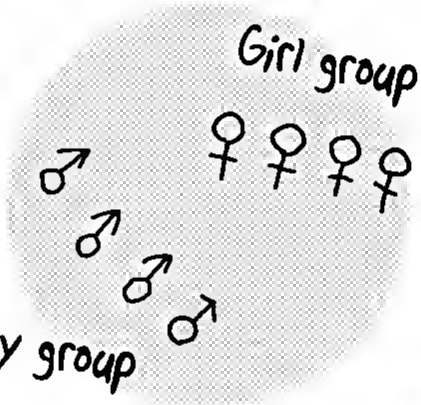


OH, IS THIS YOUR BOY-FRIEND?
Hell no! Lol.
WHY THE HELL WOULD I DATE SOMEONE IN MY CLASS?
WHAT THE HECK?
He's a kid!



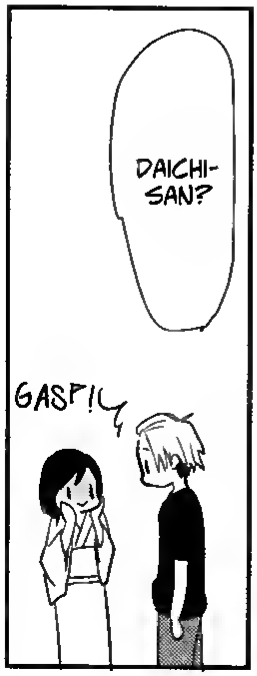
AYAMETTY!
OH, DAICHI-SAN.
FUKUYAMA-SAN.

I SEE.



Girl group
Boy group

WE BOTH CAME WITH OUR FRIENDS, BUT THE NUMBERS IN OUR GROUPS MATCHED PERFECTLY, SO IT SORT OF ENDED UP LIKE THIS.



DAICHI-SAN?
GASP!

Even though they look so good together, they're not dating...
BA DUMP
But... I'm sure that some people end up dating because of situations like this...
BA DUMP

What the hell?
SLAP
OW!
If you're gonna be rude like that, then buy me some fried noodles, you idiot!
As if I'd ever date a slut like her!
What the heck?

FRANKFU
I guess Sango looks grown up from the boys' point of view too.
EVERYONE'S BEEN TALKING ABOUT HOW GROWN UP YASHIO-SAN LOOKS.
YEAH.
That kinda stings a little...
AS FOR ME, I KIND OF LIKE GIRLS LIKE DAIC...
ARE YOU LISTENING?
Pat...
FLUSTERED
Sigh... Everyone's so incredible...
BLUSHHH
Oh, there you are.
AYAME.
STEAM...
STEAM...
OH! WE'LL BE HEADING OFF. THEN.
ALRIGHT. SEE YOU.
Hey, let's go.
LET'S AIM TO GET TO WHERE THE GOD'S ENSHRINED BY THE TIME THE FIREWORKS START.
OKAY.

WELL THEN...
INSIDE THAT DOOR LIES THE WORLD OF ADULTS...
THERE'S A GATEKEEPER AT THE ENTRANCE, THOUGH.
WHILE THE GATE-KEEPER ISN'T LOOKING,
YOU GIRLS GET INSIDE!
I'LL LURE HIM AWAY AND JOIN UP WITH YOU LATER!
WHAT?
RUSTLE

whisper
I'LL GO AFTER HER.
WAI... THAT'S PRETTY BAD, ISN'T IT? whisper
SHINO-BU!
Oh...
Okay...
Let's have some fun with every-body in here!
!?
Oh, you're cute!
Good evening! I got a little lost, you see...
FRIEND SHIP
AYAME AND KAGARI! I'LL LEAVE THE RELIC TO YOU!
MAKE SURE YOU SEE IT FOR US!

It was a night on which everyone climbed a step on the stairway to adulthood in their own way.
WHAT? SO DID I.
...WHAT?
Are you kidding me...
On the way back from the festival...
Hey,
I DID IT WITH FUKUYAMA YESTERDAY.

TRANSLATOR'S NOTES

Ladies and Gentlemen, welcome aboard this translation note with Kawaii Air. My name is Loevet, your translator, and I will take you through the references used in this chapter. Tokyo Disneyland has a special light show parade.
Have a look at it here: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=UpS0GaXGpJs

The cat sounds are a reference to a twitter joke of what the sounds from the parade would sound like in cat language:
For those who can read Japanese: https://twitter.com/asla/status/114677519290081280

Traditionally, Japanese also used to write letters on horizontal lines from right to left. This generally stopped being the norm after WWII, but does still appear. Fruit Punch, or furuutsu ponchi in Japanese, is an imported English word written in katakana. If you revert the word "ponchi", it becomes "chinpo" which is slang for the penis.

018-019

The couple on the far right are Izanagi and Izanami, the two gods that are said to have created the Japanese islands. One island was made when Izanagi put his spear into the water where Japan is today. The other eight main islands were made when Izanami and Izanagi made love to each other for the second time. For more details on how to make ancient pick-up lines and give birth to several islands, visit: http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Kuniumi

The following statue is from the prehistoric Jômon period of Japan (14000-400 BC). I think you will have no problem seeing what it represents.

Japan has a lot of famous literature about love - and sex. The three poets depicted are famous poets from the Heian period (974-1185) and the Kamakura period (1185-1333).

The first poet is Taira no Kanemori (946-991). His waka goes as follows.

Even though I hide it,
it shows all over my face,
such is my longing,
so that people ask me
"What are you thinking about?"

The woman to the left would most likely be Murasaki Shikibu (975-1014/25), author of the Tale of Genji, a literary classic known as the world's first novel, but also for its depictions of the intimate encounters and affairs by the protagonist Hikaru Genji.

The poet underneath Murasaki is the monk Shun'e (1113-1191?). His waka translates as this:

All through the night recently, as I dwell on things, even the gap between the doors of my bedroom, which does not lighten, seems cruel and heartless to me.

Translation credit of the poems goes to Prof. Joshua S. Mostow. They are all available in his book: Pictures of the Heart: The Hyakunin Isshu in Word and Image (University of Hawaii Press, 1996).

The next pictures are erotic paintings from the Edo period called 'shunga' or '春画'. You can easily google them, but be warned that the content is very graphic. The picture with the octopus is called The Dream of the Fisherman's Wife, and is actually made by the famous painter Hokusai, though he is more famous for the Great Wave off Kanagawa and his depictions of Mt Fuji.

It will not require a lot of imagination to see that the Tengu mask can represent more than just a demon with a long nose.

The SM book under the magazine refers to the novels and screenplays written by Dan Oniroku (written on the book as 'Ta Oniroku'), who has been called 'the most celebrated writer of popular SM novels in Japan'.

Lastly, we have the notes referring to current phenomena. The first note has "herbivore" written on to it, which is a term for people who have little interest in sex or high consumption. The second note, 'sofure', an abbreviation of '添い寝フレンド', refers to "sleeping friends". These are friends, of the opposite or the same gender, with whom you sleep close to in the same bed, but do not have sex.

And with that, we have reached our destination. We at Kawaii Air hope you have had a pleasant journey through erotic Japan. Please fly with us again when in need of brightening your youthful curiosity!

How good is Loevet?
A round of applause

p.s If you feel like lynching somebody because this took so long to release, it is entirely the fault of Hanabi, who forgot to upload it before disappearing to join ISIS.
